"Vance has received our most distinctive honor because she's been a consistent contributor during her career and is a top-notch Farmers agent," said Martin D. Feinstein, Chairman of the Board, President and CEO of Farmers Insurance Group. "Her professionalism, leadership, profitability and civic participation exemplifies all that is best about Farmers," added Feinstein.

As a top Farmers agent, Vance has also attended Farmers' Championship awards celebration eight times and has attended President's Council five times. Championship and Presidents Council are annual conferences that celebrate Farmers' most elite group of agents and district managers. She is also recognized nationally as achieving the Million Dollar Round Table.

Vance also speaks at state and district conferences to educate new agents on the staffing, time-management and balanced production of running an agency. Vance is also active in the community as well as serving at the school her two children attend.

"It is such an achievement to receive these honors and recognition which distinguishes my hard work and our entire agency staff," says Vance.

Farmers Insurance Group of Companies includes the nation's third-largest group of home and auto insurers. Headquartered in Los Angeles and doing business in 41 states, the Farmers Insurance Group of Companies provides home, auto, business, life insurance and financial services to more than 10 million households through 17,000 exclusive and independent agents and district managers.
