

15 Teachers Vying For Half A Million Dollars In Educational Grants, Public Decides Who Wins Finalists Competing for Five $100,000 Grants as Part of Farmers Insurance® Thank America's Teachers® Dream Big Teacher Challenge®

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif., Oct. 1, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Farmers Insurance® announced today that 15 teachers across the country have been named finalists competing for half a million dollars in educational grants from Farmers® and now the public gets to decide the winning proposals.

As a part of the insurance group's Thank America's Teachers® Dream Big Teacher Challenge®, Farmers Insurance will award five of the 15 finalists with grants to fund their ideas to help create a lasting and positive impact on their classrooms, schools and communities. With the community's help, each of the finalists could earn one of five $100,000 grants for their schools.

"The Farmers Dream Big Teacher Challenge finalists each exemplify what teaching is all about – lifting their students up to the best that they can be, and I urge the entire nation to support these amazing educators to make their big dreams a reality by casting their votes this October," said Tu-Han Phan, managing lead of Thank America's Teachers for Farmers Insurance. "These grant proposals run the gamut from sensory friendly playgrounds to small scale, functional farms, expanding education beyond the classroom walls while involving the local community in the process."

The 15 finalists' proposals, along with hundreds from other worthy applicants, went through a competitive review process and were selected to move on to the public voting phase of the Dream Big Teacher Challenge. Finalists in 2018 include:
